

Dear fourth grader and family,

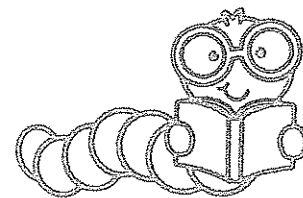

I am already looking forward to having you in my class. We have so much to learn together. You will be amazed at how much you grow as a student this year! This year will be packed full of new learning experiences that will be both challenging and exciting. For a successful year, I expect each one of you to work hard, try your best, be kind, and have a positive attitude. I promise to do the same in return!

We will be reading about new adventures through class novel studies, letting our creativity shine through writing, thinking critically to investigate science, discovering interesting things about ancient times in history, and using different strategies to master new math skills. We will also be working cooperatively, using technology in new ways, and reading more than you ever thought possible!

I am excited about seeing each one of you in August!

Sincerely,

Mrs. Dana McDade
